Zensual Thinks Pink

Zensual announced a partnership with the Libby Ross Foundation to support the fight against breast cancer. The company will donate 10 percent of all proceeds from its Navara Esotique collection's most popular scent, Asian Lychee Blossom, to the foundation during the month of October. "We are thrilled to be partnering with the Libby Ross Foundation, an organization that brings hope and inspiration to women who are struggling with breast cancer or have survived it," says Zensual founder David and Rachael Ewy. "We want to contribute as much as possible, so we are spreading the word and raising awareness to improve the quality of life for these women." www.zensual.com
